

Q5.

If I were to start a software company, I would choose Sudipta Shaw and Bhairav Phukan from my batch as my partners.

I would choose Sudipta as one of my partner's because she is a really good developer. She has experience in a vast stack of technologies that range from AI, machine learning, data analytics, web development and so on. She will be of great value to my company in terms of development of products due to her expertise in technology.

Secondly, I chose Bhairav Phukan as one of my partner's as he is good in terms of management. He understands business really well and manages the ongoing tasks responsibly. He is very outgoing and good with people. Hence, he can handle our customers and provide them with the best service that they need.

Hence my partners and I would be a good fit for starting a software company in its early stages.
